Moon Landing Gets Go-Ahead Despite Snag

SPACE CENTER, Houston, April 20.—The Apollo-16 astronauts were given a go-ahead today to land on the moon after resolving a command-ship engine problem which had threatened to cancel the mission.

The problem, a failure in the big engine's control systems, delayed the landing for two un-scheduled orbits, about three hours. The delay forced the cancellation of the first of the three-scheduled excursions on the meon's surface around the moun-

Duke ir, aboard the lunar lander Orion and Comdr. Thomas K. Mattingly 2d, aboard the command ship, Casper, were not im-mediately aware of the granting of landing approval because at the time of the announcement they were behind the moon.

The decision came after tests on the ground determined the engine problem was associated with an open electrical loop in the engine's drive mechanism and that firing it would cause no structural damage.

"Sounds good," Capt. Young said when told of the go-ahead. Comor. Mattingly fired his command ship engine successfully ARMAGH, Northern Ireland, April 20,-Twenty British soldiers stormed Armagh jail behind a wave of tear gas today and overpowered 10 prisoners who were holding two guards and a policeman hostage. The hostages, seized and held for five hours as the prisoners barricaded themselves in the jail and demanded safe conduct to the Irish Republic a few miles away, were released unharmed.

Earlier, there were fears that one of the guards had been killed, but the army said no one was hurt during the prison struggle.

Rail Unions Yield in U.K., End Go-Slow

LONDON, April 20 (AP).— Bilitiate railroad unious bowed to a court ruiling tonight and called off a nationwide go-slow strike that has thrown the state-working as soon as possible. The unions agreed, "with the greatest reluctance," to a 14-day cooling-off period for further negotiations on their claim for a ____pay rise of 16 percent.

A management spokesman said -- tsil services could return to normol by Monday if the workers end their slowdown and their han on overtime, as ordered by the three unions.

The unions' agreement was a victory for Prime Minister Edward Heath's government, which set up the Industrial Relations Court as part of legislation designed to curb Britain's recent rash of strikes.

The rail dispute was the first major test of its powers, which rank with those of the High Court. Although the unions had boycotted the court, they were required by law to accept its

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).-The presidents of eight East Coast (Ivy League) private colleges, in a joint statement issued yesterday, condemned renewed bombing in North Vietnam and also criticized coercive student strikes.

The statement, which noted that the presidents were signing their names "personall;" and not for their institutions, urged full disengagement and opposed continuation of the air war for any purpose other than immediate protection of U.S. troops in the process of withdrawal.

Hanoi Drops Precondition For Parleys

It No Longer Insists U.S. Stop Raids First

(Continued from Page 1) on Hanoi's constant rejection of any "reciprocity" between the United States, viewed as the 'aggressor," and itself, viewed as a victim acting out of "legitimate self-defense."

Mr. Thuy conceded under questioning that the minutes of Mr. Harriman's purported statements were the North Vietnamose version since both sides' negotiators had agreed not to keep official minutes.

The North Vietnamese negotiator said that the United States originally had conditions for a bombing halt: "restoration of the Demilitarized Zone" along the border between the two Vietnams. "no military build-up on both sides." "starting substan-tive talks" including both the Viet Cong and South Vletnam and "no major atlacks against Saigon, Hué and Da Nang." But, the North Vietnamese said, the United States finally dropped these conditions. Mr. Thuy quoted Mr. Harriman as saying on Oct. 24, 1958, "We recognize your statement about no conditions, therefore, we are quite ready to assure you that, in any statement on the cessation of the bombing, the U.S. government will not refer to any word such as the word 'conditional.' Asked why the North Viet-namese had not insisted on agreed and written minntes, Mr. Thuy said in effect that they had trusted the "famous [American | diplomat" as the 'representative of the U.S. President whose declarations had value." Mr. Ledogar, recalling that the controversy over the understand-ing began within days of its announcement, retterated the U.S. position that Mr. Harriman had agreed privately with North Vietnam that the United States would not publicly state its terms.

Mr. Ledogar also said that the United States saw "no change" in Mr. Thuy's statement on resumption of negotiations. He noted recent statements by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird that rejected new talks while the Communist offensive continued in South Vietnam.

In answering newsmen's questions, Mr. Thuy said that if the United States agreed to Commnnist demands to resume the stalemated weekly sessions next Thursday, then Hanoi would no longer demand prior cessation of the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. He also suggested that resumption of the weekly talks—uni-laterally suspended by President Nixon on March 23-would allow the formal conference to "examine the possibility of private meetings." Such secret meetings, beld ir-regularly from 1963 until last fall, have allowed whatever little progress has been made in narrowing still-gaping differences.

At first glance, Mr. Thuy's new formulation today seemed designed to meet U.S. demands that the formal weekly sessions could resume only when the Communists stopped using them for "propaganda" and proved their desire for "serious" negotiations.

U.S. officials have stated that North Vietnam has ample private channels at its disposal to si nal such a change of heartan indirect way of showing American distaste for making such moves in public. Still the United States is known to believe that only secret sessions can produce the proper atmosphere for real progress-in contrast to the stalemate in the 147 weekly sessions held since January, 1969. Perhaps significantly, Mr. Thuy no longer specifically promised today that Le Duc Tho would fly to Paris if the United States agreed to resume the peace talks. Mr. Tho, a ranking Hanoi Politburo member, has been associated with a series of secret talks in Paris, most recently those involving Henry A. Kissinger, the White House adviser on national security.

Discussing the resumption of secret talks, Mr. Thuy eaid, "It is necessary first to hold plenary meetings . . . in order to be able to examine the possibility of private meetings."

A. Because air support and other logistic and advisory agr. vices are atill needed by the South Vietnamese; because some combat troops are still needed to protect the U.S. bases, and because the presence of some troops will be used to negotiate the release of U.S. prisoners of war,

And Vietnamization O. If "Vietnamization" is working, why do the South Viernamese need such massive tils. air power while the North Vicinamese fight without anything comparable? A. The first objective of Viet-namization was to relieve Amerfcans of the high casualties result. ing from ground combat operations. Now the South Vietnamese are beginning to assume logistic and tactical air power, but this gives them a capacity to fight only inside their own balf of Vietnam and not reach up to the supply routes and centers in the North. But the Russians have equipped the North Vietnamese for offensive operations far from

The Salgon government is to assume tactical air responsibilities on an unrevealed schedule, but massive U.S. strikes agains: enemy troop concentrations and supplies will be conducted whenever the Saigon forces appear to need belo. During 1971, the common stock of Bausch & Lomb, the sole govaroment-authorized manufacturer of soft lenses, skyrocketed from a low of 46 to 191.

Last week, the stock was selling at 113. The current issue of Newsweek cites Bausch & Lomb as the second coldest stock of the winter on the New York Stock Exchange. It went down 37.6 percent, shaken, the magazine said by profit-takers "as well as recurring doubts about the size of the contact-lens market and concern that the lenses harbor germs."

As if that economic reality weren't enough to make B&L's eyes smart, Consumers Union last week came out with a lengthy report largely unfavorable to soft

Preliminary Meetings Next Week

India and Pakistan to Begin Planning for Summit Talks

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan, April 20 (NYT).—India and Pakistan, victor and vanquished in the brief war in which Pakistan lost East Pakistan—now Bangladesh will hold talks next week to prepare for a summit meeting.

A Foreign Office spokesman said today that the preparatory talks would hegin Wednesday at Murree, a resort area 30 miles from Islamahad. On Tuesday, an emissary of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India will arrive to meet with a representative of President Zulfikar Ali Bhntto of Pakistan.

India's representative will be Durga Presed Dhar, chairman of the Foreign Ministry's Policy Planning Committee. Pakistan will be represented by Aziz Ahmed, secretary-general at the Foreign Office, assisted by Rafi Raza, special assistant to the president.

Agenda for Meeting They will prepare an agenda

for a meeting between Mrs. Gan-dhi and Mr. Bhutto and decide when and where the summit talks would take place. Well-informed sources have said previously that they could be held in New Delhi in the first half of May.

The spokesman said that Pakistan would suggest that high on the egenda should go the questions of repatriating 90,000 Pakistanis held prisoners of war by India, repatriation of Bengalis from West Pakistan to Bangladesh and the evacuation of strips of territory along Pakistan's border taken by India in the December war.

There are estimated to ernment employees in East Pakistan and their dependents. They include nearly 28,000 members of the armed forces who were serving in West Pakistan when the war broke out.

The spokesman did not say whether the agenda would include a peace treaty and restoration of normal relations between India and Pakistan or Pakistan's recognition of Bangladesh.

The Soviet chief negotiator. Vladimir S. Semyonov, was expected back today from Moscow. but was not aboard a flight from Moscow nor on the Moscow train. He went to Moscow at the end of last week.

Wallace Puts A Stipulation To Democrats

He'll Support Party If It 'Respects' Him

By George Lardner Jr. FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 20 (WP).—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said yesterday that he would support the presidential nominee of the Democratic party, "unless they treat me bad at the convention" in Miami Beach this

Gov. Wallace disavowed any plans for a third-party candidacy even if he should get the cold shoulder. In case of a snuh, Gov. Wallace indicated to a news conference here that he might just sit out the campaign and let President Nixon coast to victory

"They can't win without the people that support me and they know it," the maverick Southerner it said of the Democrats. "I may just, as they say in the country, let it lie out . . . I'd go down and sit around the Confederate Monument in Clayton, Alabama."

Denies Any Deal

Gov. Wallace was somewhat vague, as usual, about what the Democratic party would have to do to make him happy-short of handing him the nomination. But he insisted, vehemently, that he had made no deal with Mr. Nixon to undercut the Democratic vote.
"I got more of a sense of history than to make a deal with somehooy," Gov. Wallace said. "I'll let them deal with me .

here in this heat for Nixon? . . . Hell, unless they treat me had at the convention, I'm not about to bolt the party. I will support the Democratic nominee unless they treat me had at the convention."

The 52-year-old governor said he felt confident that the party would accord him unaccustomed

Such an accommodation would presumably have to include con-cessions to Gov. Wallace on school busing, commitments to tax reforms to which most of the other Democratic candidates have dedicated themselves anyway, and perhaps some swipes in the party platform at welfare laxity and foreign aid. Bot heyood that, Gov. Wallace made clear, the party would have to treat him "with deference."

McCloskey Backs McGovern

BOSTON, April 20 (AP).-Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, the California Republican who ran as an antiwar rival of President Nixon hefore dropping out of the presilines yesterday and endorsed Democrat George McGovern.

Rep. McCloskey's endorsement of the South Dakota senator in the Massachusetts primary next Tuesday was made in a questionand-answer session following a speech by him here denouncing Mr. Nixon's Vietnam policies.

"I'm expressing the hope that the citizens of Massachusetts in both parties vote for the leading peace candidates," Rep. McClos-key said, "I don't think there is any question that Senator Mc-Govern is the leading peace candidate."

Speaking to hlue-collar workers resterday in Columbus, Ohio, Sen. McGovern predicted victory in Massachusetts and a strong showing the same day in Pennsylvania, and said he will seek an in-dustrial-state hreakthrough for hts candidacy by making an allout bid in the May 2 Ohio pri-

Army's Senior Negro

For the First Time, a Black Will Command a Division

WASHINGTON, April 20 (UPI).-A black general was named yesterday to command an Army division for the first time in American history.

An Army annuncement said Maj. Gen. Frederic Ellis Davison, 54, would take command of the Eighth Infantry Division in Europe in a few months. The Army has 13 divisions.

There have been many com-plaints that although the promotion opportunities for black officers in the services were now great, too few were being posted as commanding officers of large combat units, but were being relegated to staff jobs as finance officers or quartermasters. In such posts they would have few white troops under them.

Gen. Davison, who became a brigadier general in 1968 and a major general last April, is the senior black in the armed forces. Five other Negroes serve as generals or admirals and two other blacks—a father-son team —preceded Gen. Davison to star rank before they retired.

Gen. Davison was born and reared in Washington, D.C. and received both bachelor's and master's degrees in science from the city's Howard University, often called the Black Harvard. He entered th. Army in 1939 and served in Italy in World War II, rising to the rank of captain, a relatively high rank

Gen. Davison's specialty is personnel matters. Since last fall, he has been deputy chief of staff for Seventh Army persennel in Europe, an area the Army only recently considered a cauldron of racial frictions.

You think I'm running around here in this heat for Nixon? Indicted N.J. Congressman Accuses FBI of Corruption

By Richard L. Madden

WASHINGTON, April 20 (NYT).—Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D., N.J., charged yesterday that the FBI sought to "blackmail" him into quitting Congress after he refused to help J. Edgar Hoover in a feud with the late Robert F. Kennedy.

The seven-term Congressman, who was indicted by a federal grand jury last week on charges of income tax evasion, perjury and conspiracy, made his charges in an hourlong speech on the House floor.

Rep. Gallagher charged that there was "corruption at the highest level" of the FBI and said that Mr. Hoover, the hu-reau's director, should resign,

The troopers, Thomas Brabowski and Dennis Wieglein, were charged with misconduct in office and with aiding and abetting in the alleged mistreatment of Earl

State Police Superintendent David B. Kelly said the alleged mistreatment took place in March. Mr. Haris asserted that he was stopped by the troopers while driving, and ordered to proceed to a State Police barracks at Laurelton. ### 'Four or Five' USO Ex-Employees in Fraud

NEW YORK April 20 (NYT).— The head of the United Service Organizations has revealed that preliminary findings" indicated that four or five former employees had been involved in alleged financial irregularities.

Francis L. Sampson, a retired Army major general who is pres-dent of the USO, said that the organization for the last month had been conducting its own in-

Two Ex-Aides Accused

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP). A congressman released two USO girls allegetions yesterday that one of the organization's former directors in Vietnam was involved in sales to the black market and the theft of soldiers' gift packages. Rep. Lee Aspin, D., Wis., placed in the Congressional Record their statements to members of Rep. Aspin's staff and said lic would provide transcripts for the Pentagon. The girls were not named. One of the girls told an Aspin aide in a recorded interview that an investigation of her story by the Military Inspector General's Office in Salgon led to the firing of Robert Rawson as coordinator of USOs in South Vietnam's Northern Region and Paul Helbing as director of a USO at Dapang.

She said in the transcript that a Sgt. Lloyd Handy, who worked in the Danang USO, "told me once a story about how he and Bob (Rawson) had gotten il sirconditioners and they sold them

Last Tuesday, the Justice De-partment, acting on behalf of the CIA, obtained a temporary court order preventing Mr. Marchetti from writing about CIA activities, as he had planned under a con-tract with the publishing house of Alfred A. Enopf.

The order also requires Mr. Marchetti to show the CIA anything he writes about the subject of intelligence, even if it is fictional, within 30 days before its release, and orders Mr. Marchetti to return to the CIA any documents he might have taken when he quit the agency.

The former agent sain that the book he plans is not yet written. He has just finished his reading and research for it, he said. He envisions the book as "at times apologetic, at times critical" of

Mr. Marchetti has already writ-ten a novel about the CIA called "The Rope Dancer." He said yesterday that he submitted a copy of the book to the CIA in ad-vance. The agency had no official

What Is Truth?

There is a new attack upon the credibility Pentagon Papers, a Jack Anderson printing of the administration in the wake of the bombing of North Vietnam, It is argued that administration officials are publicly justifying it on the grounds of protecting the American troops still in the South, while privately hinting that it is intended to rebuke the Soviet Union for its continued help to North Vietnam. The rights and wrongs of this particular Issue could be debated at length. hut it is a demonstration that confidence in government utterances—not as to Vietnam alone, nor the statements of the federal government alone—is at a very low ebb.

To this widespread mistrust the Vietnam war hae undoubtedly been a major contributor. It can be pointed out that the lies and obfuscations eccompanying this war have been no worse than in any other conflict, and that many of those who now protest the deceits were not actually deceived by them at, say, the time of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution. The cliche that truth is the first casualty of war has become a cliche precisely because of its accuracy. Moreover, when one considers that Hanoi ls still only inching toward an acknowledgment that it has any troops at all in the Sootb, it is ohvious enough that lying is hy no means a capitalist monoply.

Nevertheless, a war that goes on and on without bopes of satisfactory resolution inevitably subjects all aspects of it to criticism. And the loss of credibility which afflicts the national administration haunts officials at every level from the White House to city hali. This pervasive skepticism has given a new mandate to the searchers after truth, whether it be a Daniel Ellsberg among the the asserted ITT memorandum, or a grand jury investigating corruption in New Jersey.

At the same time, such investigations run into various kinds of privilege, personal or official. The Senate of the United States is very anxious to question presidential aides about the ITT case, but it is very unhappy when a federal grand jory would like to ask some aides of Sen. Mike Gravel about his poblication of the Pentagon Papers. Indeed, it claime that "anyone who assists a senator in the performance of his duties" should be free from grand jury questioning.

By the same token, a group of prisoners supposedly involved in the Attica prison riot have attacked the investigatory body looking into that tragedy as "solidly connected with the privileged class." And a New Jersey congressman, indicted for income tax evaslon, perjury and conspiracy, charges that he has been the victim of a feud with the Federal Bureau of Investigation arising from his long legislative defense of the right of

The search for truth, like that for justice. has a difficult course to follow, between the Scylla of permitting the facts to be concealed and the Charybdis of invading personal or group privilege. The result, at best, is likely to he some rough approximation of either truth or justice, in terms of the details of each individual case. The danger in pursuing those details lies in the possibility of obscuring such basic issues of pohlic policy as those posed by the tragic folly of Vietnam, by conglomerates, such as ITT, and hy prison riots, such as Attica. When the trees grow too high, it is hard for anyone to see

Stirrings in East Europe

The post-Moscow trip Mr. Nixon has scheduled to Poland marks much more than a sentimental journey to a Communist country whose people gave him (and the United States) an immensely warm reception in 1959. The trip marks a political journey as well. From regarding East Europe mainly as an arena for discreet geopolitical jousting with Moscow, the President has passed through "balance of payments guich" and has come to accept the region as a place where more American business should be

So when meat riots brought a Communist party technocrat. Edward Gierek, to power in Warsaw in 1970, Mr. Nixon stopped insisting that trade be a reward for good political behavior and instead moved directly to expand economic ties. East Europeans know that any economic association with Washington has political significance as an offset to domination by Moscow. Yet the Nixon outreach to Poland, a country firmly within the Soviet security and Ideological zones, lacks the headler overtones of his relations with Romania and Yugoslavia, whose frankly more independent policies the President has been pleased to cultivate for competitivenese. The region faces what has heen called a "trade reorlentation dilemma": Must it stick with stodgy Soviet economic ways and technological means, or may it seek fresher technology, investments, services, and markets in the West? Poland's cautious intent to widen its Western economic horizons is tipped in part by its invitation to

In general, East Europe is in a new economic stage of less concern with simple gross output and more concern with efficiency and Mr. Nixon.

Middle East Pawns

UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim'e urgent appeal for more funds for Palestinian refugee relief is a timely reminder of the human as well as the monetary costs of nonpeace in the Middle East.

Unless a $4.5-million deficit is promptly erased, Mr. Waldheim has warned, the UN Rellef and Works Agency will have to eliminate a feeding program for 67,000 habies and mothers and cut back on health and educational projects affecting 700,000 youngsters. Surely a world that squanders hillions on far less worthy causes will not let these modest hot vital humanitarian efforts lapse. The plight of the hapless Palestinians has a special claim on the oil-rich Arab etates and the Soviet-bloc countries, which profess to champion the Palestinian cause but have heen terribly callous in their lack of response to the Palestinians' human needs.

More relief alone, however, cannot meet the deepest need of 1.5 million refugees who have lived in wretched exile for more than two decades, pawns of the rival vanities of their own and other Arah leaders, victims of Arab and Israeli intransigence. Their greatest need is for a chance to support themselves in dignity in a land they can call their own, at peace with their Arab and Israeli neighbors.

King Huesein's recent proposal for a semiautonomous Palestinian state on the West Bank, linked to Jordan, could point toward soch a solution of the refugee problem. It merits serious examination on all sides, including the Palestinians themselves who at iast have begun to close their ears to the eiren cries of the guerrilla zealots.

Collapse of a Myth in S. Vietnam

In the first days of Hanoi's Easter of-Tensive many commentators prematurely wrote of the "collapse of the myth of Vietferent lesson. On the whole, Saigon's troops have been energetic and in some cases even successful. And, like the Tet offensive of 1968, the latest invasion has intensified the South Vietnamese sense of patriotism to a degree which shows that, despite dissatisfaction, the majority regards the present government as the lesser evil. During the first

NEW YORK-Professor Thomas A. Edison expressed his opinions on airchips yesterday: Whenever an airship is made it will not be in the form of a balloon, but will be a mechanical contrivance, raised by means of a very powerful motor of little weight. At present no one has discovered such a motor, but we never know what will happen. We may see it in the tere near future.

The Policy of Enterprise

By C. L. Sulzberger

DARIS-To understand the power relationships involved in the latest Vietnam crists it is advisable to remember a littleunderstood episode during the recent India-Pakistan war. Last December, while the conflict was at its height, the U.S. nuclear carrier Enterprise sailed into the Bay of Bengal. The maneuver was explained by Washington as designed to help evacuate threatened American citizens; in fact it symbolized an entire policy.

For months before the outbreak Washington had heen convinced war was coming and thet New Delhi, egged on hy Moscow, intended to settle the halance of power once and for all by wiping out Pakistan, both East and West.

Despite close ties with Pakistan, the United States was less concerned with the subcontinent than with its conviction that Russia was urging India to war. Three times President Nixon asked the Eremlin to help prevent an armed conflict. And he actually intimated that many of New Delhi's aims would not be disfavored if only achieved in

But the new Soviet-Indian treaty plus Soviet arms shipments made violence increasingly inevitable despite our cautionary admonitions. The feeling grew that an unchecked India, armed and backed in the United Nations by Russia, would-if unchallengedchange Moscow's global assessment of the United States.

Threat by Sadat

This was believed of critical importance. For example, Egypt's President Sadat promised to initiate another round of fighting against Israel by December 31. 1971, and Washington conjectured this might occur if American toughness was not manifest,

Moreover, Nixon's Peking journey was officially scheduled. There was no worry that events on the subcontinent would cause China to cancel the visit if Washington didn't support that mutual Sino-American friend, Pakisten. But there was speculation that the Chinese regarded the Indian war with respect to their own position vis-à-vis a hostile Soviet

This suggested that if there was no American reaction to the Moscow-sponsored Indian assault, Peking might fear it was but a dress rehearsal for a later Russian attack on China itself. Washington concluded it had to demonstrate to Peking that the United States was prepared to get tough in India and was not. as a result of diminished world commitments, starting to collapse.

The dispatch of the Enterprise was also a signal to Moscow, backing up Nixon's hot-line warnings that the Soviet Unioo should admonish India not to turn against West Pakisian after it had rolled up the East. For Washingtoo had been seeking assurances from both New Delhi and Moscow that no such westward offensive was imminent; but none were given.

The Enterprise was therefore dispatched as a token of American intentions. It was felt the United States could not assume a neutral stance on the subcontinent. We would do less for India than Russia was doing; we would anger the Chinese; we would give Moscow wrong ideas by looking weak and might consequently touch off other wars. At this juncture Washington considered the "Chinese option" a constraining factor in working out a oew basis for coexistence with Moscow. It was believed essential to show the possibility of violent U.S. reaction over India in order to convince Peking there might be major U.S. concern were China directly menaced. Now, long after the Enterprise

A typographical error in the concluding paragraph of C. L. Sulzberger's Wednesday column altered Mr. Sulzberger's medning. After citing facets of the "Vietnam proxy war," he wrote: Whether Woshington should bet so much on cards being played by others is arynable." The words "so much" were omitted in the published persion of his column.

slid out of Bengali waters, having registered its point, the situation the Indian subcontinent has indeed changed. But Washington apparently believes this isn't vital to U.S. interests nor does the United States have a serious capacity to shape events there.

Balance Altered

Whether rump Pakistan can continue to exist remains an open question. Centrifugal movements among the Pathans and Baluchis are tearing at the Bhutto government. Furthermore, the halance between Pakistan and India has been massively altered.

There is, however, belief in Washington that U.S. and Indian policies are again convergent. China is expected to exploit Maoist elements in both Bangladesh and Indian Beneal while Russia counters with support for rent toughness in Vietnam.

pro-Soviet Marxists. Ultimately, the United States may be seen as the only serious backer of the Mulib government in Bangiadesh -apart from Mrs. Gandhi.

The policy of Enterprise had its rationale although nobody yet knowe for certain if the assumptions on which it was made were based on fact. It was aimed far beyond the Bay of Bengal in its implications-just as is the cur-

All Vietnamese

I'm afraid I can't join Mr. Rosin (Letters, IHT April 14) in his salute to our "brave fliers" who are attempting to stop the present partisan offensive in Vietnam. Instead I wish to offer a salute to all Vietnamese, North or South, who continue to be-lieve, unfortunately against overwhelming odds, that Vietnam is for Vietnamese and not for Presldent Thieu and American interests. The Salgon regime, un-realistically but fanatically prop-ped up by the U.S. since 1955, stands today as the greatest violation of the Geneva accords and the most obvious hindrance to peace in Indochina.

The true Vietnamese patriot cannot possibly be defined as must have continual American air support for his very survival. Vietnamese independence will be won and won on the ground and hy Vietnamese who have the will to do it alone. Would American independence have been something worthy if the French had beaten the British for us? In the fall of 1970, Willy Brandt moved the world by dramatically kneeling at a Jewish memorial in Warsaw. Or in Hand, where our bombs are now killing in-nocent civiliant?

NICHOLAS F. GIER. Odense, Denmark,

Why the War?

After hearing our President and our press, we always come hack to the same question—why must the war in Victnam go on? It must go on for the absurd reason that three great world powers invented a fictitious nation to serve their own interests and these powers are not yet willing to abrogate their respective commitments to the fictitious nation for fear of losing prestige. For peace to come to South Vietnam it is necessary that the great powers agree that the territory of South Vietnam he turn-ed over to the UN Trusteeship Council, which should accept responsibility to administer the territory until the conglomerate of peoples living there are capable of political response.

Reaction to Bombing

C. L. Sulzberger, whose world experience would appear to be more extensive than that of Anthony Lewis, has correctly perceived that "the implications of victory or defeat in Vietnam global," (IHT April 19.) And Evans and Novak have correctly reported CHT April 181 that "just before Hanoi kicked off its invasion, high-level Russian officials in the North Victnamese capital included the deputy defense minister" and added that "the Russians were involved in the invasion not only with sophisticated arms but technical advisers at the highest level to advise on their use."

But when President Nixon decided not to full over and play dead. Mr. Lewis concludes CHT April 18) that "the truth is now impossible to escape: The United States is the most dangerous and destructive power in the liberal double standard in all its unrationed splendor, Mr. Lewis has proved conclusively that he is not a journalist but a pamphleteer. If he is hoping for a U.S. defeat and a victory for the Communists, why doesn't he have the intellectual honesty and courage to say so instead of fudging the issue by feigning to confuse morality with geopoli-

Mercifully our European allies -and our own leaders-under-stand geopolitics a little better than Mr. Lewis. It is worth noting that Moscow and Peking reacted with more moderation and less hysteria to the hombing of Haiphong and Hanoi than did Mr. Lewis. Perhaps they realize better than Mr. Lewis that the name of the guilty party is North Vietnam

CHARLES D'ALTENA

When is Anthony Lewis going to creep out from behind his journalistic camouflage and openly declare that he looks forward to a Communist victory in Vietnam? Since he chooses to quote an editor of the Hamburg weekly Die Zeit, (IHT, April 18), allow me to cite from a recent Saigon dispatch sent to the Hamburg daily Die Welt. During the siege of An Loc. in South Vietnam, a Canadian photographer (Gerard Hebert) was astonished to find that the driver of a destroyed T-54 Soviet tank had had his foot "chained" to the underpart of his

Whatever may be the sins of the Thieu regime in Saigon, it does not chain its "volunteers of death" to their instruments of destruction, lest their zest for "kamikaze" heroism fail them in Making the "world safe for democracy" may have been too pious and exalted an ideal for the United States in the past; but Anthony Lewis should honestly ask himself if the world of tomorrow is going to be that much more enchanting when it has been made unsafe for everything but revolutionary fanaticism.

Maybe he is too secure and set in his ways to try to find out why
"the United States is dropping bombs from 50,000 feet above a country thousands of miles from our shores," but one thing is certain: He is doing his own editorial blitzing a safe 12,000 miles from the battlefields of Indochina. CURTIS CATE.

Fulbright and RFE

In his "Letter to Fulbright" CHT, April 121, Chalmers Roberts makes much of Sen. Fulhright'e statement that Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty are "remnants of the Cold. War." Indeed at a time when the diffcial U.S. policy is to reduce tensions and improve relations with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, it seems highly questionable, as Sen. Pulbright has said, continue to spend large amounts of tax money for these broadcasts.

Many commentators appear to forget that public funds from American taxpayers pay the bill for the two radio stations. Some $500 million has already been spent and another $36 million is appropriated this year. In the past this money was spent without the knowledge or approval of the American people or their representatives. One wonders about the credibility of an organization purporting to broadcast truth, all the while deceiving its own citizens about the source of its fund-ing. The Nixon administration wanted to continue to administer these public funds "privately," but the Senate refused. Use of public funds must be based on a system of priorities, Is support of RFE and RL the wisest, most compelling use of this tax money? Many of us feel that there are important domestic needs which must rank higher, particularly if the U.S. is going to hold ourselves up as an example to the rest of the world, We spend more tax money on RFE and RL than for public/educational television in the U.S.

Bonn's East Pacts

Regarding the West German nonaggression treatles with Poland and the Soviet Union, one is intrigued by the Russian governement's urgency and vehe-mence on having the treaties

Apart from the well-known influence these treaties will bear on the convocation of an all-European "security" conference, cannot help but wonder whether the Soviet government needs a speedy settlement of this problem before it can seriously consider an accommodation with the Japanese regarding the Kurile Islands.

In view of Moscow's current obsession with the Chinese "threat" (and signs of a Sino-U.S. rapprochement), it finds it imperative to achieve some progress in lts relations with Tokyo, but finds the Japanese adamant on eventual return of the "Northern Territories." With official (West) German irredentist claims safely stifled Moscow could work out an agreemen that would be acceptable to the Japanese, perhaps some sort of Okinawa-like arrangement that involves only the southern tier of the islands. The repercussion that this prece-

Democratic Convention Mathematics

By David S. Broder

WASHINGTON .- The mathematies and the politics of the Democratic nomination struggle now make it seem unlikely that any candidate will win enough delegates in the primarles and state conventions to walk into Mismi Beach in July assured of a first-ballot victory.

The profusion of primaries has forced the candidates to pick and choose their spots: George Wallace has grabbed off more Votes than anyone had expected; and George McGovern, Hubert Humphrey and Ed Muskie have split up the rest so thoroughly that no one is gaining much ground on the magic number of 1,508 required for nomination.

All the candidates dream of a sweep of the late, vote-rich and prestigious contests in California and New York that would bring them into the convention with momentum enough to collapse the opposition. McGovern, for one, honestly thinks he can do it, and if he is right in believing he can win those two states with their 549 delegates, history would he on his side in saying the nomination should be his.

Crucial Primaries

Since 1940, the opposition party has always nominated the candidate who won what came to be regarded as the crucial primaries. Since 1952, it's always been a first-ballot nomination, too. But McGovern's case might test that theory. The opposition to him in the Old Guard elements of the party-the South the congressional hierarchy, the AFL-

CIO headquarters—is strong More important, his showing in the national public opinion polis has lagged so far behind his performance in the delegate fights as to make it questionable whether he is likely to appear, even in July, as the favorite of the Democratic voters or the strongest candidate against Mr. Nixon.

Thus, the speculation about a "brokered convention" resurrecting Muskie as its nominee, or turning to Ted Kennedy or drafting some "dark borse."

Most such speculation you can safely ignore, for the fact of the matter is that there is hardly an active Democratic politician or a working reporter who has ever taken part in or covered a convention that went beyond one baliot

None of them and none of us have any clear notion about the dynamics of such a struggle, how it may end, or even who may be involved. One interesting possibility, however, is that it might bring into action a group of officials who have been conspicuous by their impotence at the conventions of both parties since 1952; the governors and the mayors, Presidential politics has been Washington politics for the past generation, dominated by secators and former senators, But that is not inherent in the system, particularly under the reform rules of this year's Democratic convention, which have moved the base of nominating power back into the local communities.

Coincidence

By coincidence, the nation's governors (30 of them Democrats) will be meeting in Houston the week of the California primary. The nation's mayors (most of them Democrats) will convens in New Orleans two weeks later. just before the New York pri-

Both groups are rife with internal divisions and neither has an obvious national leader or spokesman. With the vagaries of the primary elections, some of those state and local officials have found or will find that the only way they can get into the convention is with a guest pass.

Nonetheless, they represent a potent force within the party. It is just conceivable that it may occur to some of them that if the current crop of senstorial candidates does nothing for the next two months but prove they can best each other, then the governors and mayors might exert some influence on the choice of the man to send out against Mr. Nixon

An Old Hand Stages Handel's Oratorio 'Belshazzar'

By David Stevens

GENEVA (IHT).—Herbert Graf is an old hand at gaining or regaining for the musical stage works that either were not originally so conceived or which seemed ill-adapted to the theater. and his current staging here of Handel's oratorio "Belshamar" ls admirable testimony to his long experience in this field. This sort of thing is not just antiquarianism, but a realization tury, the original Berlioz pro-of the flexibility of the theater duced his "Damnation of Faust," of the flexibility of the theater that was largely lost in the 19th century. Graf's own highly suc-cessful staging in a Salzburg church of Cavalieri's dramatic oratorio "Rappiesantatione di Anima e di Corpo" (circa 1600) is one aspect of this, and another is found in this ceotury with works of Scheenberg, Frank Martin, Penderec'ii and Others. Even in the hidebound 19th cen-

Graf is also an old hand at "Belshazzar." He first produced it in Breslau in 1927, when Handel was enjoying a renais-sance in Germany. he knows the pitialis—among them a musical and vocal style difficult to realize today and, in the theater, a telescoping of time elements and scenic conceptions of en imaginary grandeur impossible to realize naturalistically.

He also knows the advantages. Besides the glorlous music there is also Handel's genuine dramatic instinct and practical theater experience. The composer's Biblical oratorios came mainly after his long string of Italian operas, but he was ble to leave behind many of the conventions that make his operas so problematic today, and the cborus gained an important role.

For this production, Annelles Corrodi designed a basic set of an open stage-level area in front of a pair of huge carved doors, the wbole embraced by a set of stairways, ramps and platforms that provided a flexible acting area. Above this was a shown a series of effective projections that provided changes of venue and atmosphere. They included pompously monumental structures, exemplifying the decadence and vanity of Belshezzar's Babylon: symbols and images of various deitles, and-at a key dramatic point—the mysterious hand and its ominous graffito, "Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin," forecasting the dissolute king's downfall. Graf used this stage flexibly, with a judicious mixture of stylization and restrained realism and devising a series of fluid and generally effective tableaux-although the traffic got a bit thick in some of the massed scenes. Kurt Jooss's angular choreogra-phy len; a vaguely Oriental and ritualistic air that was not out of Musical matters were in Karl Richter's hands, and his hands were full with a cast of singers of varying degrees of Handelian expertise and large choral forces those of the Grand Théatre, augmented by amateur ensembles from Bulle and Lausanne) spread cut from the pit to the farthest reaches of the stage.

But, although some of the complex choral sections tended to slide apart at the seams at the second performance Saturday, Richter did impose more than a minimum of stylistic uniformity and, above all, gave the musical performance a flexibility and vitality so often missing in baroque music.

The work was given in the origina! English and benefitted from the excellent diction of William Cochren, a stalwart Belshazzar, and Benjamin Luxon, a sympathetic Cyrus (and a deepvoiced one, rather than an alto), while Josephine Barstow as Nitocris, the king's mother, brought the most authentic Handelian style to the cast, and thereby the most moving characterization. Peter Lagger as Daniel and Victor de Narké as Gobrias were rick-voiced, although more conventionally "operatic" and less at home in English. been seen. There are conflicting reports of the fate that the czer and his family met at the hands of the revolutionaries. A relatively mild and humane version has been selected, though a more lurid one would have served as a powerful finale theatrically.

The acting, under routine direction, is of a waxwerk unity. Michael Jayston is the weak-willed czar and Janet Suzman the miscalculating czarina. The company has a star-studded supporting cast-with Laurence Olivier, Michael Redgrave, Eric Porter, Jack Hawkins, Irene Worth and others appearing and disappearing here and there, though their presence is unable to lend the cript additional substance. "Nicholas and Alexandra" has cost millions and pictorially it has a million-dollar lock. It glitters dazzlingly, but it fails to come to life.

"The Hot Rock" (at the Paris -mostly in American slang) is a lively rogues' comedy with Robert Redford as an ex-jailbird, the brain of a band of thieves who steal a fabled diamond from the Brooklyn Museum, Having misplaced it, they seek to recover it by helicopter raids on precina station houses, hypnotizing bank attendents and threatening chacy lawyers with maltreatment. It is fast, furious and funny stuff Peter Yates, who also directed "Builitt," mixes suspense vira belly laughs. There is an amuing cameo by Zero Mostel as tra pempous, dishonest legal eagle,

But Paul Newman and Michael Sarrazin, as his wayward half-brother, returned home to roost, represent the younger generation that is determined to carry on, come hell or high weter.

The film, though its philosophy and its dramaturgy may be oldfashioned, is entertaining and excellently acted, especially by Lee Remick as the lonely bride of a preoccupied woodsman, Newman as a director appears to have

EEC Parley On Industry

By David Haworth

VENICE. April 20 (DHT).eading Common Market hust-lessmen, trade unionists and civil ervants heard a gloomy report bout the EEC's industrial and echnology programs when they egan a three-day conference here today on the future of Euro-

The conference is an attempt o put more vigor into industrial policy which is only sketchily isfined in the Treaty of Rome. Altiero Spinelli, the Brussels ommissioner responsible for in-tustry, told delegates the EEC's resent institutions "are not in . position to take on new tests." and said an increase in the comnunity's budget is essential if rogress is to be made.

Legislative and financial decidons for launching industrial irgently, he said, if there is to ndustrial and economic power. The conference is intended as a orcing house for ideas on which proposals can be based for agreenent at the Paris summit meet-ng this fall which will be atended by EEC prime ministers and those of the four countries about to enter the community:

There was a consensus today on four main points emerging from the discussions:

• That a European company law and common policies to encourage cross-border company mergers which will increase industry's capacity to compete against U.S. and Japanese interests should be implemented.

• Technical knowhow and research in such industries as computers and aircraft should be freely exchanged between EEC countries.

• Polintion control should be organised on a community-wide

• Systems for joint research and development in atomic energy should be laid down.

Treasury Department proposed yesterday to speed the process by which the United States in-vestigates illegal price cutting by importers and assesses import duties.

Japan is to voice its complaints at the meeting of Japan-U.S. trade experts to be held in Washington April 27, MITI officials said. They said the U.S. move "runs counter to the international anti-dumping platform of the General Agreement on Tariffs

Meanwhile, MITI started phecking the prices of goods imported from the United States, in what government sources said is a retaliatory measure against the proposed tightening of U.S. anti-dumping regulations. MITH officials declined to confirm the move, however.

The sources said MITT helieves it will be compelled to take further steps to prevent the dumping of U.S. goods in Japan and in-structed Japanese industries to report any cases in which they might have been affected by price cuttings by U.S. importers Japan.

U.S. Rules Transformers Being Dumped

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP-DJ) .-- The Tariff Commission ruled unanimously today that imports of heavy electrical transformers from four European countries and Japan are injuring U.S. producers. The anti-dumping act decision applies to imports from Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland and Japan.

The Treasury earlier ruled that imports from these countries, valued at several million dollars a year, were unfairly priced in violation of U.S. anti-dumping laws. The Tariff Commission ruling clears the way for the Treasury to impose anti-dumping

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

Shell Outlook 'Very Disappointing'

The year 1972 "cannot but be very disappointing" for the Royal Dutch/Shell group of companies, reports Sir David Barran, chairman of Shell Transport & Trading Co. Sir David says that because of the poor outlook capital spending plans are being reviewed and operating costs are being cut, in part through reductions in the work force. He said the poor prospects are due to inadequate rates of economic growth in major markets. As previously announced, the group had a balance of net income for calenda of £347.8 million, down from £366.7 million in 1970. The 1971 figure included a non-recurring charge of £22.5 million arising from the world currency realignment. Sir David says first quarter 1972 profit figures are not yet available, but he adds, "Volume figures on which we have got soma fairly good indications suggest there has been no increase, and perhaps a decrease, in demand as compared with the first quarter of individuals in property is clearly upward.

It said that prices are expected to rise at a slower rate this year than in 1971, thanks to more favorable opportunities for productivity increases, and cited the government's forecast of a rise in the cost of living index for this year of about 4.5 percent.

However, the bank also counselled that any upturn in the economy could exhaust the slack created by the pause in growth and thus rapidly reduce the chances for a slowing in the upward trend in prices.

As a factor which could impel a new spurt in price increases, the Bundesbank cited the high level of public spending planned for this year.

It noted that the total deficit of federal, state and local author-lties is likely, according to present plans, to exceed 26 billion deutsche marks-well above the 12-billion DM level which the bank regards as economically "neutral".

Such a deficit level would exhaust the slack in the economy caused by the current underutilization of productive capacity, the bank warned, calling for a revision of the planned level of public spending.

Brokers May Set Fees For Small Investors

By Philip Greer NEW YORK, April 20 (WP),-The chairman of the Securities & Exchange Commission yester-day endorsed testing competitive commission charges for small investors.

While explaining that he is not in favor of "cutthroat competi-tion" among stockbrokers. William J. Casey said he thinks "it's appropriate to test negotiated rates at the lower end" commission scale. He said brokers could be allowed to set their own charges on orders with a value of less than $5,000 or possibly $10,000.

Appearing at a "press conference" held before 1,700 money managers and brokars at the fifth annual institutional investor conference. Mr. Casey stressed that changes in the fixed com-mission schedule should be made slowly.

Last April, brokers began negotisting rates with their customers on that part of the order that emceeded $500,000 in value. On Monday, the fixed rate system will be eliminated at the $300,000

Membership Issue WASHINGTON, April 20 (Reuters).—Mr. Casey asked Congress today to resolve the question of institutional stock exchange membership in order to avoid a lengthy court fight. He told a Scnate subcommittee on securities that, unless Congress acted on the issue, the SEC would be forced into the appeals court by regional stock exchanges which oppose the commission's proposed limitations on Lastitutional membership.

Jamaica defeated Panama, in Panama, in the final of the first Central American team championship. The Jamaicans played consistently well throughout the week-long tournament which ended Monday and will be a force to be reckoned with in the world team olympiad in Miami in June.

The biggest swing in the final occurred on the diagramed deal with a gain of 17 international match points to Jamaica.

In the closed room Panama suffered a disaster. South opened with a strong artificial one West made a take-out club. double, and East jumped to two spades. South made in his turn a take-out double, and North made a poorly judged penalty Two spades could not be defeated, and Jamaica scored

In the replay on vu-graph, Jamaica opened the South hand with two clubs, a natural bid showing a club suit and moderate strength. North chose the conventional response of two diamonds, asking his partner to describe his hand further.

When South rebid three diamonds, showing a considerable two-suiter, West came to lifa with a take-out double to show possession of both majors. North then made an imaginative lead to five clubs, reckoning that somebody could make something -either five clubs for his side or four hearts for the opposi-

West led the spade ace, South ruffed and cashed three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy with the jack. He now had to guess the diamond situation.

Sonth had to assume that East held the king, which was likely enough in view of the final douhle, but he also had to guess the distribution. If East held a doubleton king, a low diamond to the jack would be the winning

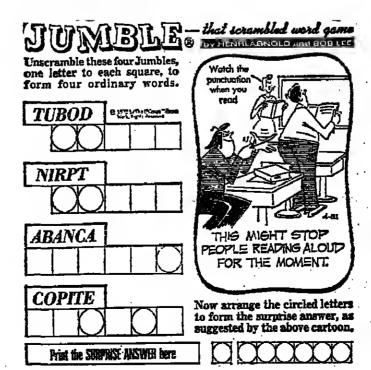

But West's take-out double of three diamonds, showing the majors, made it unlikely that he held more than a doubleton diamond. So the declarer made the winning assumption, that there was a doubleton diamond ten on his left. He discarded a heart on the spade king, and led the diamond queen. East did not cover, but it did not matter. South was able to make five diamond tricks and eventually an overtrick.

sive hatred of Communism who may have had more influence on the course of the Cold War than any other man. Soviet articles refer to him as a fascist warmonger who was tha biggest single factor in the prevention of an East-West detente. These two books tell his extracrdinary

From late 1941 to the end of the war Gehlen was Hitler's chief of intelligence for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. Then, having arranged to be captured by the Americans, he became the principal source of CIA intelligence from the Communist world until 1955, when he was made Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's chief of intelligence. Gehlen was one of the planners "Operation Barbarossa," the 1941 German attack on the Soviet Union, which sent Nazi divisions 600 miles into the Soviet Union in seven weeks, placing 50 million Soviet citizens under Hitler rule. When Gehlen became chief of intelligence for the Eastern front, he immediately began or-ganizing a Russian Army of Liberation among anti-Communist prisoners of war and partisans. By the spring of 1943 he had organized this army under Soviet General Andrei Vlassov, who had been captured by the Germans and turned against Stalin. ·Vlassov and Gehlen estimated that there were hundreds of thousands of anti-Communist Soviet citizens prepared to join with the Germans in the overthrow of Stalin.

But Gehlen's plans ran head on against Hitler's view that the Slavs were subhuman beings who should be controlled by terror and mass execution. At first, Vlassov's propaganda leaflets promising good treatment to deserters and employment in the Viassov movement produced massive defections, but soon Hitler's ruthless treatment brought an end to that. Geblen remained loyal to Hitler, but seeing how the war would end he made plans for his future. He arranged to have all his intelligence files on the So-viet Union packed in 50 steel cases and hidden away until he could be captured by the U. S. Army. As Stalin's aggressive program in Eastern Europe, the Balkans and Iran began to unfold, it was apparent to the Americans that they were totally imprepared, without intelligence was prepared and had soon ne-gotiated a remarkable deal in Washington giving him authority to establish an all-German intelligence apparatus with complete control over its personnel.

In the little village of Pullach ontside of Munich, in a large

REINHARD GEHLEN was a housing development formerly Nazi general with an obser- for SS officers, Gen. Gehlen built a walled-in headquarters for what was soon to become the spy base of the Cold War, provid-ing the CIA with 70 percent of its intelligence on the U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe. Thus, io a matter of months Hitler's chief anti-Soviet spy had become America's Soviet expert.

There can be little doubt that the Soviets, fearing the Germans more than any people, were greatly influenced in their assessment of U.S. policy by the fact that Gehlen was selected for this role. But there can be little doubt too, that, given Stalin's aggressive moves, the United States would use the only available source of intelligence.

According to Cookridge, who is a British author of many fine books on espionage, the CIA pumped over $200 million into the Gehlen organization. results more than paid o'i.
Among its sensational exploits were the accurate forecasts of the East German uprisings in 1953, the Hungarian revolt in 1956, and the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968.

Gehlen probably was the spy of the century, but his rightist proclivities and rigid anti-Communism probably contributed to prolonging the most dangerous period of the Cold Wer and may have slowed the evolutionary political process in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. A proponent of revolution, not evelution, he believed that all Communism was bad and dreamed of war between the United States and the Soviet Union. He had no sympathy for national Communism. Titoism, or revisionism. He didn't seem to believe that the political process in Moscow and Eastern Europe would allow for a struggle for power between the rightist Stalinists and the anti-Stalinist revisionists. Even after the advent of Khrushchey his operations continued to give weight to the arguments of those Communist leaders who most feared the Germans and who were most opposed to relating the Stalinist tactics of tyranny and terror.

Both of these books are lively reading, well documented and cover essentially the same even's. The Cookridge book is better organized and better written. but spy buffs may enjoy the operational detail of "The General Was A Spy" by Honne and Zolling, two German newsmen Trevino, who has won six tournaments since the 1971 Tournament of Champions, has a new No. 3 wood. He believes it will help on these fairways. He plans to discard the No. 8 wood he selected for the recent Masters at Angusta, Ga. "I've been working on my put-

Surviving Adolescents

By Russell Baker

WASHINGTON. - One of the algebra coming along?" Same begins when man discovers that along "fine." School is always his child has become an adolescent. After a few years of trying to live with this discovery, many people simply quit. Others, more realistically perhaps, commit suicide. Divorce is common. Many people turn to rying, and even those who can't my devote them-elves extensively to misery.

There is very Ettle that can be done during this difficult time, be; on d surviving it. Under present laws dealing with homicide, citild abandonment and slave labor. forceful attempts to secure relief will almost certainly end in grievous complications. All leading authorities agree that any goal more ambitious than survival is unrealistic and denger-

Baker

To survive, one must commu-nicate with the adolescent, and to communicate he must beware of addressing him in terms that will lose his attention. There are any number of such terms, of course; on some days, any terms at all will lose his attention. We are not concerned with those days, however. Those ruly creadful days. What concerns us is the more average day when there is a reasonable chauce to gain the adolescent's attention if we do not make the error of uttering a fatal attention crusher. A few such crushers are set forth here, with orief analysis of Almost all experts agree that there is one line no person should ever, under any circumstance, speak to an adolescent. It is the line that begins, "When I was your age..."

No adolescent has ever heard how this sentence ends because as soon as be hears the introductory clause, "When I was your age..." his eyes become glazed. his hearing mechanism goes dead. All adolescents believe that their parents were born 45 years old.

· "How did school go today?" This line rarely fails to shut off communication. The answer is thing, they show always; "Fine." "How is the It at their age.

most critical periods of life reply. The algebra is coming "fine" and algebra is "fine." And the composition of the Ciceronian oration is also coming along "fine." no matter that he has failed the last three algebra tests, can't translate "Britannia insula est." and hasn't been to school in three weeks.

In general, any conversationopening question that can be answered with, "fine," ought to be avoided.

• "Why does your room always have to look like a pigpen?" There is a wide range of communication killers in this form, and they should all be avoided. Adolescents hate rhetorical questions. They believe it is obvious why their rooms always have to look like pigpens. At is a form of self-expression.) Anyone so dumb that he has to ask is not worth the attention needed to repir. because he could never undetstand the sensitive person's need for self-expression.

• "Back in the depresation when I was a kid..." will almost invariably turn the adolescent sulky and uncommunicative. This is because most adolescents suffer from poverty-envy. They blame their parents for denying them the really great poverty of the depression, so that they now have to fake the real thing by spending a lot of time and money for shabby work clothes. They don't want to be reminded that titeir parents were over-privi-

. It's time you realized that one of these days you're going to have to make a living." This stops communication not because the adolescent resents it, but because he doesn't know what it means. He has never heard of an-body making a living." He has a living, basn't be. He will always have one, won't he? Isn't that what the government is for? Why should be make another one?

Finally, of course, sex should never be discussed with an adolescent. He believes that sex was not invented until six or seven years ago, and he is embarrassed at the possibility that adults mar ask him about sex, because he is not sure how much, if anything, they should be told about

New Frontiersmen Who Want to Start Lunar Community

PARIS (IHT).—The Committee for the Future, whose advance guard consists of an American housewife and a retired U.S. Air Force officer, made a soft landing this week in Paris-the first foreign stage of a journey that will culminate, they hope, in a civilian-sponsored "lunar

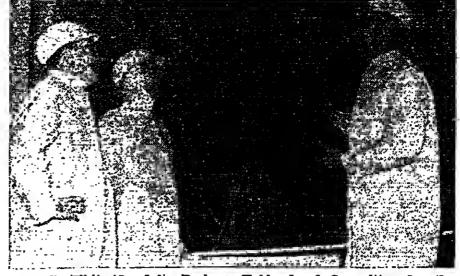

At a press conference, someone remarked that the committee had been upstaged slightly by Apollo-16, which got off the ground first. Asked about the general attitude of the U.S. space agency toward their project. Barbara Hubbard. the committee's organizing director, said that NASA has been rather stiff-necked, as if there were not enough space for everybody. But she did not seem at all

Mrs. Hubbard, a petite, rather elegant woman in her early 40s, evidently does not dismay casily. The daughter of Louis Marx, R wealthy New York toy manufacturer, she has five children and is mar-ried to Earl Hubbard, an "artist-philosopher." It was she who, in June, 1970, organized the Committee for the Future -the first citizens' group to advocate a new twin goal for the United States and all others who would participate: To develop the frontier of new worlds, beginning with a lunar community open to people of all nations; to apply space technologies and systems concurrently to meet man's needs on earth." They hope to establish the lunar community "within 10 years."

She and John J. Whiteside, who retired from the Air Force as a lieutenant colonel, and is now the committee's executive director, are used to being ribbed about their project ('loony' is the usual adjective) but in conversation with them it soon becomes apparent that, in addition to being deeply serious about it, they have done some realistic thinking.

How much will the basic hardware cost? Between $100 million and $150 million. Mrs. Hubbard estimates. Surplus lunar vehicles are available. They have come to Europe not on a fund-raising expedition but "to meet people who share our interest in developing ideas and actions to secure a positive future for

Pressed, however, about where all that money will come from, Mr. Whiteside said the concept is that each person participating would donate the proceeds of "two hours of work." He stressed the hope of the committee that the response would be global. Thus the contribution of a rickshaw coolie in Hong Kong would be offset by two hours of salary from, say, the board chairman of General Motors.

As for the lunar-community project itself, Mr. Whiteside (whose Air Force service included a tour of duty as an information officer at Cape Kennedy) said there is no doubt of the "feasibility" of it. This has been established, he said, on the basis of more than 500 academic studies on the general subject of communities in outer space. "The committee believes," Its fact sheet says, "that combining the man-in-space and man-on-earth tasks will . . . stimulate the economy - . . provide growth opportunity and challenge for those now left out of the system as well as the under-employed genius of the age . . . provide a non-ideological initiative for world unity . . . offer direction in research and development to advance the peaceful uses of science and technology [and] alleviate the suffering of man."

The twin projects have been given the code names Harvest Moon (the "citizen-sponsored" lunar expedition) and SYNCON. "a synergistic convergence of individuals and groups to examine the potential for a positive future." The latter will take the form of a seminar at Southern Illinois University, May 17-21.

In the United States the coolness of NASA has been offset by the receptiveness of such people and groups as Norman Cousins, Rep., Olin Teague, D., Texas, and various components of the United

Had they often been asked whether it might not be wiser to remain earth-bound for the present and concentrate on terrestrial problems? Mrs. Hubbard said indeed they had. The committee's conviction, however, was that, in effect, the lunar-community approach would provide a short-cut to the solution of many earthly problems. "NASA," she said. "bas talked about such potential benefits as 'spin-off.'" As her committee sees it, "spin-off" would be one of the goals, rather than a by-product. Before setting out on their current journey the committee's leaders, in correspondence with groups and individuals, tested the temperature abroad and found it quite warm. Interest was particularly keen in Britain, Mrs. Hubbard said. She and Mr. Whiteside plan to visit London after a atopover in Cologne. Yugoslavia, Russia, and South America are also on their ltinerary. Mrs. Hubbard emphasized that theirs is grass-roots approach, aimed at mobilizing individuals all over the world. "I believe," she said, without sounding at all pompous, "that we are the first group of ordinary citizens who are concerned with the future of man."

Both she and Mr. Whiteside have been devoting their full time since 1970 to their self-imposed, high-minded task. Mrs. Hubbard is also a vice-president of Federal Union, a group working for the union of democracies, and a board member of the World Future Society. The Hubbards live in Lakeville, Conn.,

and have been using their home as a conference center. Their fact sheets and other informational material carry at the top an eye-catching symbol designed by her hasband: a black circle enclosing the white half-profile of a woman, looking [presumably] into the future. The profile is Mrs. Hubbard's.
